

In Australia, for every detected victim of modern slavery, four go undetected

Exploitation at work may be hidden and can lead to modern slavery. Some of the indicators include:

- Excessive work hours
- Unsafe work conditions
- No training for the job
- Underpayment or no payment
- Passport taken away
- Paying recruitment costs in your home country or taking out a loan to pay your agent
- Not free to leave work
- Lied to about what the job involves

Everyone working in Australia, including people on temporary visas, have work rights protected by law. Help is available – search the Work Right Hub to find out more.

The Work Right Hub received funding from the Australian Government Modern Slavery Grants Program.
